CONVERSATIONS WITH THE ELDER'S

Review by: Kevin Rupp

What follows below is the foreword from a recently published manuscript by Sr. Alice Ann Pfeifer, CSA with Sr. Mary Elise Leiker, CSA, "Conversations with the Elders - Personal Stories of Soviet Labor Camp Survivors". The book is only available as a download through the internet at <https://www.smashwords.com/book/view/258733> for $2.99 a download.

From 1994 to 2001, a small group of Sisters of St. Agnes lived in Chelyabinsk, Russia, while engaging in a variety of ministries in the city's schools, hospitals, and sizable Catholic parish. How the sisters got there is a story in itself, but that is not the focus of this book.

Rather, this book tells the story of one particular group of babushki and dyedushki (grandmothers and grandfathers) whom the sisters met during those years. They came from places all over the former Soviet Union. All were German in their ethnic background and nearly all, bilingual in their speech; they were equally comfortable communicating in the distinctive German dialect of their forebears and in the contemporary language of their homeland. Each was a full-fledged, documented Russian citizen whose family roots in Russia extended as far back as the 1600s, 1700s, or 1800s. Most of them were founding members of Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church in Chelyabinsk.

These women and men had founded their parish in an informal sense during the years following their WWII imprisonment in Soviet labor camps. They belonged to the Trudarmee, a name literally meaning "army of heavy laborers." Although they shared the common fate of being targeted by a government distrustful of all things German during a time of war, each man and woman could tell a personal story unique in its details.

These biographical sketches are based on interviews that Sister Mary Elise Leiker conducted in the same German dialect that she had learned while growing up in Munjor, Kansas. (In the 1870s, Munjor had been named for its parent village along Russia's Volga River, Obermunjour.) While Sister Mary Elise engaged each interview subject in a free-flowing conversation, she translated their words into English for Sister Alice Ann Pfeifer, who took the notes that became the basis for these sketches. They conducted their interviews from 1995 to 1997.

Please note one matter of semantics before you begin reading these stories. It concerns a point of debate among historians who specialize in the subject of Russia's Germans. What should this unique segment of Russia's population be called? Are they German Russians, Russian Germans, or Germans from Russia? Good arguments exist for all three designations, but we have adopted the term German Russians for this book. It most closely resembles the general usage of the term German Americans, which refers to those US citizens who retain some of the characteristics, patterns, and customs of their family's German origins -- if only the distinctively German spelling and pronunciation of their surnames.

Those families are broken down into seventeen chapters:

- Chapter 1: Frederick Staab
- Chapter 2: Helena (Merz) Weigel
- Chapter 3: Josefina (Schlij) Herrspiegel
- Chapter 4: Helena Krug
- Chapter 5: August and Elizabeth (Leiker) Exsner
- Chapter 6: Herman and Albina (Younger) Papenfuss
- Chapter 7: Katya Seib
- Chapter 8: Frederick and Agatha (Mare) Goertmann
- Chapter 9: Clara (Greilich) Braun
- Chapter 10: Maria (Havarkand) Lang
- Chapter 11: Ilse (Wiens) Weber
- Chapter 12: Agatha (Albert) Moor
- Chapter 13: Lydia (Akkerman) Kuhn
- Chapter 14: Monica (Schaefer) Harmel
- Chapter 15: Katya (Risch) Starikov
- Chapter 16: Johannes and Agnes (Wagner) Stamm
- Chapter 17: Therese (Gross) Herman

I hope that many of you will purchase a copy of this book from the website and support the work of our former Sunflower Chapter member.

President's Message....Kevin Rupp

Chapters members, it is already the end of January and we are speeding towards Lent. Our next meeting will be Sunday, February 10. Three of our officers will provide some delicious soups and greble.

If you are reading this newsletter in what we call 'hard-form', on paper, please take a look at your address label. If there is an asterisk next to your name then this is your last newsletter. We still have a number of members who have not renewed their memberships. I do hope that many of you will send in your renewals ASAP or bring them to the meeting. I still hope that many of you will bring in a new member. I want to thank Leon Wolf for buying his grand-daughter a membership into our chapter.

The 2013 Round-Up has been set for October 19, 2013 at the Whiskey Creek in Hays with accommodation at the Days Inn, right next to the Whiskey Creek. Cost for the room is $51.00 which includes all taxes. It was discussed that in order to save money for all those involved, instead of having a group planning meeting in Salina as we have done in the past, the Hays Chapter will put together a proposed program. If you have any suggestion I ask that you please e-mail them to me so that when we have our planning meeting we can look them over. Leonard has told me that at this Round-Up in Hays it will be decided whether to continue the Round-Up in some form or another or dissolve it.

We are needing someone to come forward to be our publicity chair. If you are interested please let me know.

We are also looking for a Librarian helper for Shirley Brungardt to help share responsibilities. We are hoping that the library will be re-located in our meeting area very soon so that members can peruse through our library with ease.

As we begin this new year I hope that you all will remain healthy, warm, well-fed and hopefully bring in a few new members.

I hope to see you all on February 10th!

GOLDEN WHEAT CHAPTER LOSES CORNERSTONE

Guest Writer: Dennis Zitterkopf

Rachel Elizabeth (Borecky) Smith passed away on Jan. 24, 2013 at Wichita, KS. Born on May 30, 1920 in Ellsworth County, Kansas to Edward and Rachel Heinze Borecky. Married Robert Enos Smith on September 27, 1941 in Larned, KS. He passed away April 11, 1974. Also preceded in death by her parents; daughter, Carol Ann Smith Lyne; brother, Roy Borecky; nephew, Ronnie Borecky and niece, Elaine Borecky Scoggins. Rachel worked for the Midwest Air Procurement District, the Office of the Price Administration, and the Internal Revenue Service for thirty-five plus years, retiring on May 2, 1979. Genealogy became her hobby, and she researched and prepared several Family Histories. Rachel is survived by two granddaughters, Denise Ann (Mark) Kalmer, Chandler, Arizona and Julie Kay (Christopher)

Jennings, Calgary, Alberta, Canada; two great grandsons, Keifer Jennings and Quentin Jennings; and many relatives and friends. Service will be Tuesday, Jan. 29 1:00 p.m. at the Mission Chapel Mausoleum, 3424 E. 21st Street, Wichita, KS. Visitation will be Monday 4 to 8 p.m. at Old Mission Mortuary. In lieu of flowers, it is requested that contributions be made to AHSGR Golden Wheat Chapter, 822 N. Cypress Ct., Wichita, Kansas, 67206.

Rachel Smith, one of the silent angels and rocks of the Golden Wheat (GW) chapter, died 23 January because of the complications of pneumonia. She was one of those members every chapter wishes they could clone multiple times: always willing to help wherever she could; volunteered for roles others weren't keen to do (she was the GW Librarian and opened to the library for others to perform research whenever her regular hours didn't fit theirs; was the receptionist at every GW meeting; was one of the key players in our bierock baking project; was someone who always had a smile; and she was the village coordinator for Dreispitz – in addition to researching and documenting her own family history. She received the special Roundup award several years ago (I don't remember the exact year) and received the AHSGR Special Citation award at the 2011 convention. The nomination letter for that award copied below summarized Rachel and many of the characteristics she exhibited every time she was near someone.

I would like to nominate Rachel Smith for the 2011 Special Citation Award.

Dennis Zitterkopf presents Rachel the Document of Appreciation Award at the 2010 Kansas Round-Up of Chapters in Hays, Kansas.

Rachel has been the VC for Driespitz since 2005, and does an exceptional job doing research for people with ancestors from Driespitz. Her responses, by email, are quick, and complete, and she supplies all the information she has collected that relate to a particular query,

In 2005, she took over the Lower Volga Village Project obituary project, after the sudden death of Kathy O'Malley. She does an outstanding job collecting and categorizing the obituaries for display on the Lower Volga Village project web pages. The complete obituaries are also supplied to the AHSGR SOAR project.

What I find most remarkable about Rachel came to light yesterday, when she sent me an email apologizing that she hadn't mailed a CD to me with obituaries for the past 6 months. Rachel wasn't able to drive to the post office in Wichita, to mail the CD, because of all the snow in Wichita. Rachel is over 90 years old.

When you met Rachel, you knew you had a new friend. She leaves a hole in the GW chapter that will never be truly filled and is sorely missed.

EMMERAM

By Orin Windholz

EMMERAM

Radio stations KAYS and KHAZ feature a sponsored series called Where

History Walked the Streets. A service of the Ellis County Historical Society, I have been their voice on the radio, broadcasting snippets from our widely diverse history numbering about 60 segments to date. Our German heritage has been well represented. One spot I wrote was on the village of my Windholz ancestors.

The settlement of Emmeram resulted when some 40 families, belonging to St. Fidelis Church in Victoria, were authorized by the Bishop to construct their own church to be named Sacred Heart. Originally known by the German name Nordorf (North Village), it was later self-named Emmeram by the Capuchin priest who personally managed construction of the church, a school and the cemetery. He hand sketched out a town plat that was filed in 1902 in Ellis County consisting of 36 lots. This pen and ink document was deposited at the Historical Society archives.

As with some of the other small Volga German colonies, population declined. The few homes built were eventually moved off, except for the home and shop of pioneer carpenter John M. Windholz. My brothers and I had a lot of fun in Uncle John's shop and roaming around the dry creek area. The school was closed and moved off, then the church closed in 1967. The beautiful stone church building was sold off and its premises abused. Its existence, begun in hardship, ended with a total loss by fire and now stands in ruin. The cemetery is well maintained and burials are still made after services mostly at St Fidelis.

CACHE OF WHISKY IS IN CEMETERY

November 19, 1925
Hays, Kansas Newspaper

Here is an interesting newspaper clipping from the past....

Eustace Bissing has "Safe Place" for booze is arrested and pleads guilty to charges against him. Tells of "doubling his money" in Recent sales of liquor here.

Selecting a cemetery as the best place concealment for a cache of bootleg whisky, Eustace Bissing, 21 years old, for several months was able to elude detection and supply a big demand for whisky, he told officers after his arrest last Thursday.
Bissing when questioned admitted having scooped holes in the mounds of graves at the Catholic cemetery where he stored his "booze". At night he would drive to the cemetery in a car and replenished his stock that he kept on hand to sell, he said. "I went to the cemetery because I didn't think anyone would look for stuff there," Bissing explained.

Bissing told the officers further that he had cached the liquor at other points a short distance from town in the past. This booze he said he bought for $7.00 a gallon and peddled it for $14 a gallon thus doubling his money. He said he had difficulty at times in supplying the demand. In police court he was given a jail sentence of 30 days and assessed a fine of $100 when he pleaded guilty to the charge against him,
that of violating the prohibitory law.

The officers, said that they were satisfied the liquor Bissing has been selling was manufactured locally.

TRADITIONAL NICKNAMES AMONG THE CATHOLIC VOLGA GERMANS IN WESTERN KANSAS

By L. A. Weigel

One of the Brungardt families was known as "Die Doblens". It could be that some generations ago there was a woman by the name of Dobler in the family...or it could be because all of this family were very heavy set people, and maybe somebody called them that because they seemed to be double.

In Emmeram there was a woman known as "Die Bed Wees" (Aunt Bep). Her name was Barbara Dinkel. She was one in a million, and everyone in the country knew Bep Wees.

Some people were called by an injury to the body: For instance there was "Der Grumma Schmidtberger" - he walked with a cane, and a limp. Then there was "Der Dre Lauber". He had a leg injury and turned his body from side to side as he walked, describing him as "Der Dre (turning) Lauber".

In the Weigel family there were 3 or 4 Valentine Weigels. One of them was called "Der Sand Faltin" (Sand Valentine) because there was a sand pit on his farm.

"Schnee Fees". This was a Windholz who lived in Emmeram. Fifty years ago he missed school one day. When the teacher asked him, "Wu warst dann du" (Where were you); in a tongue tied fashion: "Ich Schnee Fess Tubba griet" (Ich han Schnee G'fress un han den Schnubba griet). I ate snow and got a cold. Instead of saying Schnee G'fress and Schnubba griet he said Schnee Fees and Tubba griet because he was tongue tied.

"Dime", Peter Knoll lived northwest of St. Peter. He was poor but had a big family. So, he had his kids down in the draw next to his neighbors fence go across and milk the neighbors cows. Puzzled, the neighbors staked out one of the boys and caught the kids of Mr. Knoll milking the cow. He was also lazy. So eventually he got the name "Dime" der war ke Dime wert. (He isn't worth a Dime).

The Linenbergers were named the "Fisha". My own grandma was "Die Fisha Marie". This came about in Russia when Melchior Linenberger met a girl Margaret Fisher. The Fishers had no boys, so Melchior moved in with his in laws the Fishers. From that point on this particular Fisher family became known as "Die Fische" the "r" being slurred or dropped.

Binder Peter: His real name was Peter Goetz. I knew him, but was 20 years old before I found out his name was Goetz. His son told me that one day a man came from Park on the old "Plug" a up slow passenger train that stopped at every telephone pole (so the story goes) and got off at Victoria. He started up town and asked the first man he saw, where Peter Goetz lived. I don't know him, the man replied. Just then, Peter Goetz walked around the corner, and the man said, "there he is". And the other guy said, "No, that's not Peter Goetz, that's Binder Peter". Now it could be that the family were Binders in Russia. I don't know, Mr. Peter Goetz's son Joe thought that is the way they got the name.

Lindberg: In 1927 when Linberg flew across the ocean, and made that historic flight, a young man in Victoria, Rich Denning was very impressed. I was told he made a crude model of an airplane because of the Lindberg flight, and there-after became "Lindberg".

Der Bishof (The Bishop). When Alfred Dinkel was a young boy in grade school the priest asked one day "All die wo in Himmel wolla, dut a mol eire Hand in die He" (All those who want to go to heaven, please raise your hands). All the boys did except Alfred. When the priest asked "Was willst dan du gabba" (What do you want to become, he said "Bishof" (Bishop).

Here are a few names that were descriptive:

Der Dick Finger (John Hammerschmidt)
Der Windholza Dicka (John Windholz)
Der Rupperts Peter (Peter Mermis)
Der Lange Petter (Peter Braun)
Der Klena Michaels Rota (Michael Rome)
Die Schwartz Kat (Catherine Dreiling)

At Home in Russia, at Home on the Prairie

A river flows gently into its broad lagoon, its banks punctuated by once German villages, dazzling fields of grain, abundant vineyards, fruit trees and gardens. The land is fertile. The area is typical of many German settlements that once made these Russian steppes a breadbasket of grain and other agricultural products. The Germans who settled the area are largely gone now scattered in a diaspora of forced migration through difficult decades of political unrest and change. And though the region no longer exists as when the Germans lived there, it endures in the minds of the people, lingering fragily "Da hamm in Russland," "Back home in Russia."

"At Home in Russia, at Home on the Prairie" tells the story of the Kutchurganers. The life they led in South Russia and their life after journeying to the prairies of North America.

This DVD is now available from the AHSGR Book Store.
